PART I.

EARLY HISTORY OF THE FREEMAN FAMILY.

WE cannot at this date decide how the name originated. All authors on nomenclature believe that it was adopted by some one who desired to indicate his position of a free man.

A genealogical authority says, "Another original of names was, clearly, the existence of some peculiar quality in the individual,—moral, physical, accidental, or otherwise,—of which illustrations may be cited, such as John-the-strong, becoming John Strong; and, as is related of Edmund, a Saxon King, that he was surnamed Ironsides; or of persons who could not be subjected by invasion; but by well chosen position, persistence or valor, maintained their independence, never in vassalage or made tributary, and who were appropriately denominated FREE. Of this number, it naturally followed that John-the-freeman came to be called John Freeman, and from the FREEMEN of an early day, has, as it is claimed and legitimately concluded, come the patronymic FREEMAN."

We have at an early date one John le Freeman. The name does not appear in the Battle of Abbey Roll of Honour, and the family is probably not of Norman origin, as has been claimed; for few, if any, of the early Normans were left out of this remarkable Roll; but, on the contrary, a large number of names were added without any authority whatever.

The name appears several times in old German chronicles, and also in the Scandinavian "Sagas"; but it is more than probable that it was assumed in these countries for the same reasons as in Britain.

That all the British branches of the Freeman family came from one common stock is evidenced by the almost identical arms borne by the different houses of this name, both in England and Ireland.

It is curious to note that this name was assumed by the Duchess of Marlborough in her well-known correspondence with Queen Anne. The Duchess boasted that she called herself "Mrs. Freeman," because the name "was peculiarly suited to the frankness and boldness of her character."

Why all the houses of Freeman should have adopted the device of "the Lozenge or Fusil" in their arms I cannot say, unless it was to indicate their industry and perseverance in the business entrusted to them.

We shall now proceed to indicate the origin of the different houses of Freeman, and the armory they carried.

THE FREEMANS OF CASTLE COR, CO. CORK, IRELAND, descend from

JOHN FREEMAN,

who built the Castle in the middle of the 17th century. He died about 1690, and was succeeded by his son,

WILLIAM FREEMAN,

who married a Miss O'Callaghan of the house of Bantyre, and had with her a son, who, with his wife Ellen, a daughter of Shapland Carew, had two sons, Robert and William, the latter of whom married into the Deane family, leaving a son Matthew, whose property was inherited by the Deanes, who assumed the name of Freeman, which they bear to this day.

WILLIAM FREEMAN,

This family bear for armory, in a quartering of four, first and fourth, gules, three lozenges argent, for Freeman; with a crest a demi-lion rampant gules, holding in his paws a lozenge argent, for Freeman; Motto: "Liber et audax," for Freeman.

THE YORKSHIRE BRANCH OF THE FREEMANS can be traced back to about 1657, when lived

HOWSLEY FREEMAN,

of Howsley Hall, Parish of Ecclesfield, Co. Yorkshire, England, who married Mary, daughter of Thomas Steel.

They bore for arms:

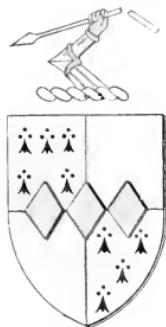

THE FREEMANS OF WALLINGFORD, BERKSHIRE, descend from

THOMAS FREEMAN,

of Preston, in Crowmarsh, in Oxon, who married Frances, daughter of a Bennett of London. One of their children, John Freeman, of Wallingford, Berkshire, born 1624, married Alice, a daughter of Sir JOHN KEELING, a Justice of the Court of the King's Bench, and Chief Justice of England, 1668.

They bore as arms:

MARTIN FREEMAN of LONDON, who was the son of Edward Freeman, of Hammington, Northampton Co., married Elizabeth, daughter of Matthew Lawrence, and used on account of this marriage, the arms of Washington in the second and third quarter of the arms; the identical arms used by General George Washington on his seal. We shall have occasion to refer to this later.

THE ESSEN BRANCH OF THE FREEMANS descend from one of Bromfield, Essex Co., whose son Richard, was a servant to Queen Elizabeth, was knighted, and granted by Sir William Segar, Garter King of Arms, as arms:

THE FREEMANS OF SURREY AND NORTHAMPTON

can be traced as far back as to the reign of King Henry VI.

The first one of this name we find is

1. JOHN FREEMAN,

of Bentley, Northampton Co., who lived anno 20, Henry VI. (A. D. 1442.) He married a daughter of Isham of Northampton.

Arms of the Ishams:

His son,

2. LAWRENCE FREEMAN, of Bentley and Wallgrave, Northamptonshire, of 2 Richard III., married Anne, daughter of Thomas Frebodye of Northamptonshire.

Arms of the Frebodyes:

His son,

3. HENRY FREEMAN
of Wallgrave, married Mary, daughter of Richard Wintershall, of Surrey.

Arms of the Wintershalls.

They had several children, viz.:

4. I. WILLIAM, who was slain in France in 1568.
He wasted his estate, and left a son Henry,
who died without issue.
5. II. EDWARD.
6. III. LAWRENCE, who died without issue.
7. IV. RALPH, of Highnam Ferrers, who left two sons:
a. CHRISTOPHER,
b. GEORGE, of London.

The second son,

5.

EDWARD FREEMAN,

of Hammington, or Ironington, Northamptonshire, married Elizabeth, daughter of Mansh, and left children:

- *8. I. MARTYN,
9. II. LAWRENCE,
10. III. THOMAS, who died without issue.

The first son and heir,

MARTYN FREEMAN,

of Bechworth, Surrey, and London, married Elizabeth, daughter of Matthew Lawrence, son of Sir Oliver Lawrence, Knight. He quartered on account of this marriage with an heiress, the arms of Lawrence and Washington.

They had several children:

- *11. I. RALPH, born 1580.
- *12. II. WILLIAM, baptised at St. Mary at Hill, Jan. 14th, 1592-3.
- 13. III. MARTIN.
- 14. IV. JOHN.
- 15. V. FRANCIS.
- 16. VI. JAMES.
- 17. VII. ELIZABETH, who married Stephen Hardey.

The arms borne by Martyn Freeman, as above mentioned, and which his descendants are entitled to bear, are: In a quartering of four: 1. Freeman, 2. Frebodye, 3. Lawrence, 4. Washington.

11.

SIR RALPH FREEMAN,

of Beechworth, Surrey, and London, born 1580, son of Martyn Freeman, was baptised at St. Mary at Hill, London, July 6, 1580, as "Randolph," was knighted at Windsor, Sept. 15, 1617, was Master of the Mint to King Charles I., was also one of the Masters of the Request, built the Mansion House, London, and married Catherine, daughter of William Brett, of Wrotheden, Leicester, and had with her:

- 18. I. RALPH.
- 19. II. SIR GEORGE.
- 20. III. KATHARINE.
- 21. IV. SUSAN.

Evelyn, in his Diary, under date of Nov. 27, 1602, says: "Dined with old Sir Ralph Freeman, and the Master of the Mint." Chalmers "Political Annals" says, touching the Charter of Massachusetts, that "His Majesty's pleasure was signified by Sir Ralph Freeman upon direction of the Lord-keeper of the great seal."

12.

WILLIAM FREEMAN,

brother of Sir Ralph, was baptised at St. Mary at Hill, Jan. 14th, 1592, married Nov. 3rd, 1638, Mary, daughter of Lewis Orell, of Wisbech, Cambridge, died at the age of 65, and was buried at Beechworth, May 27th, 1657.

They had children:

- *22. I. JOSEPH, born Oct. 2, 1639; married in the Parish of St. Botolph, Bishop's Gate, London, Mar. 14, 1666, Elizabeth Goss, (born 1636.)
- 23. II. JOHN, born Sept. 13, 1643, married in St. Botolph's Parish, London, Jan. 16, 1666, Mrs. Sarah Edwards; and they had children:

GENEALOGY

(1) Elizabeth, born 1670, married 9, Sept., 1692, at St. Giles, London, William West.
 (2) John, born 1667, married 10 Dec., 1692, at Christ's Church, London, Mrs. Avis Waller.

22.

JOSEPH FREEMAN,

born Oct. 2, 1639; married, Mar. 14th, 1666, ELIZABETH GOSSE.
 Issue:

24. I. JOHN, born 1666, married at St. Botolphs Oct. 5, 1693, Mrs. Mary Dockwra, of St. Helens. He married 2nd, Jan. 14, 1743, in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Hester Coleman.

*25. II. EDWARD, born July 12, 1670, in London, England, married Mar. 11, 1696, in Woodbridge, New Jersey, Hannah Phillips.

*26. III. HENRY, born Aug. 7, 1672, in London; married May 16, 1695, in Woodbridge, N. J., Elizabeth Bonne, "of Huguenot origin."

If these two brothers, Edward and Henry Freeman, sons of Joseph Freeman (and Elizabeth Gosse), had remained in England, we should have some records of their marriages and deaths, as we have of the other members of the family. The records of the other members of the family in England are very complete; but we find no entry of the marriage or death of either of these brothers. But just about the time when these younger men attained their majority, and would be shifting for themselves, there appear in Woodbridge, New Jersey, two persons of the same names and ages. There can hardly be any doubt that they are identical, as the evidence that Edward Freeman and Henry Freeman, of Woodbridge, came from England is positive and conclusive.

Emigration to America was at its height about this time. Hutton, in his "Original Lists," says, of this period, "We learn, incidentally, that ships left England daily for America." About this time, also, quite a number of Surrey families went to New Jersey, and among them the Phillips and Bowne, with whom the two Freemans intermarried. We feel, for these reasons, justified in assuming the relationship between the Surrey Freemans and the New Jersey Freemans as being fully established.

Another strong item of proof lies in the fact that Daniel Freeman, of Los Angeles, California, owns a very old seal, the possession of which can be traced back to his great grandfather, Andrew Freeman, the grandson of Edward. This seal was, in all probability, brought over from England by Edward himself. It has engraved upon it the crest of a demi-lion rampant gules charged on the shoulder with a lozenge argent, and the style of the seal and the engraving shows it to be the work of the latter half of the seventeenth century. As this crest was borne only by the Surrey branch of the Freeman family, this old seal affords strong testimony that the Freemans of New Jersey are descended from that branch of their house, and that the Edward of Woodbridge, N. J., and the Edward of London were one and the same person.

A MEMORIAL

...OF...

* HENRY FREEMAN *

of Woodbridge, New Jersey, and some of his descendants

Compiled for D. FREEMAN

By Rev. T. F. CHAMBERS, D. D., Dover, New Jersey
Author of "Early Germans of New Jersey."

The following Memorial of the descendants of Henry Freeman is fragmentary and incomplete. The compiler was principally interested in gathering information concerning the descendants of Edward Freeman, the brother of Henry; but it frequently happened that in his searches among the old records of New Jersey he came across data concerning some of the descendants of Henry. These were jotted down, and afterwards arranged and are now published, in the hope that they may be of use to some member of that family who may wish to complete the genealogy.

NOTE.—An asterisk (*) opposite a name in the following memorial indicates that the genealogy of the descendants of that person will be found under a corresponding number on a subsequent page of this book.

of Woodbridge, New Jersey, and His Descendants

Compiled by D. FREEMAN

PREFACE.

The descendants of Edward Freeman, of Woodbridge, New Jersey are scattered over Canada, and the States of New Jersey, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, North Carolina and California; and it has taken the author several years to collect the material, (scant, though it is) for the following genealogy. Extensive searches were made in England, and the services of the Reverend T. F. Chambers, D. D., of Dover, N. J., a genealogical authority, were enlisted to search the records of New Jersey. Sometimes it has taken weeks of work to find the date of a birth or marriage, or to establish the connection between two or more individuals to determine whether they were of the family or not. In America it has been found impossible to trace all the members of the family. Sometimes the record against a name is simply "Went West" or "Went to California," and no further trace of the person named could be found. Sometimes letters of inquiry addressed to members of the family have remained unanswered from causes unknown to the author.

A few blank pages have been inserted at the end of the book for future genealogical entries. Any member of the family who may be able to correct any date or entry herein or fill in any date or entry left blank, will confer a great favor upon the author by sending such information to him, so that in the event of another edition being published such corrections may be made therein.

DANIEL FREEMAN,
Los Angeles, California.

It is uncertain at what date Edward Freeman and Henry Freeman arrived in America from England. An old gentleman named Freeman, of Newark, N. J., told the Rev. F. Freeman, author of the genealogy of Edmund and Samuel Freeman, in 1848, that "A Freeman, whose name was probably John, came from Oxford, England, bringing wife and children, in company with William Penn's first Colony, June, 1681, and was drowned in the Delaware River in the act of landing his chattels; and from his family originated the New Jersey Freemans." Note on above by Mr. F.: "Supposing the man alleged drowned was John, or any other, the legend that he left a widow and three sons, Edward, Henry and Samuel, proposed one of these, viz., Henry as the progenitor; and this Henry, it was said, was apprenticed in Philadelphia, married a French woman, and located in Woodbridge, N. J., where by industry and enterprise he secured an ample fortune, and died leaving large landed possessions." At least, part of this tradition is correct. Henry Freeman married a woman, Elizabeth Bonne, of French Huguenot extraction, and he died leaving large landed possessions.

Mrs. Ashbell Freeman, who was a daughter of James Freeman, who was a grandson of Henry, says, in a letter to Rev. F. Freeman, dated June 27, 1857, when she was 81 years old, "My father, born 1740, said that his forefather was from England; my husband, born 1755, told me the same. Three brothers came over." This establishes the fact that Henry Freeman and Edward Freeman came from England, but, unfortunately, does not give the date of their arrival on this continent. If the fact is, as stated by Mrs. Freeman, that "three brothers came over," then John, the elder brother of Edward and Henry, accompanied them to America, or came over at some other time. We find the name of John Freeman on a petition of the inhabitants of Middlesex Co., N. J. (the County in which Woodbridge is situated), to the Government in 1710, and we find no further trace of him. This would be in accordance with the facts; as, if John came to America, he certainly returned to England, as we find him marrying a second wife in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Jan. 14, 1743.

The tradition that "three brothers came over" may owe its origin to the fact that the family consisted of but three brothers.

The records of the ships that sailed from England for America between A. D. 1600 and 1700 are very incomplete. In 1637 Thomas Mayhew was appointed, for a term of twenty-one years, to keep a record of all those persons who left England "to passe into forraigne partes," but of Mayhew's lists nothing is to be found but the fragment commencing at page 287, and that continues but for a few months. In 1874 John Camden Hotten made a search among the State Papers in the Public Record Office in England for the names of "those who went from Great Britain to America between 1600 and 1700," and published the result. In the introduction to his book he says: "It must not be imagined that the following pages furnish a complete list of the early settlers in America." Then, after referring to Mayhew's list, he says, "It cannot be doubted but that other lists were made, but they are either lost, or among the mass of papers still uncatalogued at the Record Office. We learn incidentally that ships left England daily for America, but no records of them, or of their passengers remain. We know that many ships sailed from Bristol, among others The Angel Gabriel and the James, conveying the Rev. Richard Mather, and the Rev. Daniel Mand, but no records of departures from that port remain. Where are the lists of The Arabella, and other ships in which John Winthrop, and the founders of Massachusetts embarked? These are but a few instances to show how very imperfect are our records of the early settlers."

EDWARD FREEMAN,

born in London, England, July 12, 1670; married Mar. 11, 1696, in Woodbridge, N. J., Hannah Philips. Issue:

27. I. MOSES, born Aug. 24, 1700; resident of New Providence, Morris Co., N. J.

28. II. RACHEL, born Mar. 6, 1702; died Oct. 3, 1704.

29. III. HANNAH, died Oct. 10, 1704.
 30. IV. RACHEL, born Mar. 20, 1706.
 31. V. BENONI, born Mar. 10, 1709; died 1785. His will, dated July 27, 1782, at Woodbridge, mentions son Robert, grandson John Marshall, and son-in-law Robert Stanbury.
 *32. VI. WILLIAM, born Mar. 18, 1713; married Sarah. Administration of his estate granted to his wife Sarah, Oct. 20, 1756.
 33. VII. EDWARD, born Mar. 2, 1714.
 34. VIII. CATHERINE, married a Ross.

The will of Edward Freeman, dated Woodbridge, Feb. 24, 1750, probated May 16, 1750, names wife Elizabeth and son Benoni as executors. Elizabeth is, of course, a second wife, and probably a sister of Robert Hayes, of Newark, who mentions "sister Elizabeth Hayes Freeman" in his will, Mar. 4, 1759. The witnesses to the will of Edward Freeman were Joseph Shotwell, and Daniel Shotwell. The Shotwells were an old Surrey and London family, and probably some of them came over with Edward Freeman and Henry. Andrew Freeman, the grandson of Edward, married Mary Shotwell, and John, the grandson of Henry, married Margaret Shotwell.

32.

WILLIAM FREEMAN.

born in Woodbridge, N. J., Mar. 18th, 1713; married Sarah, and had issue:

*35. I. ANDREW, married Mary Shotwell.
 Oct. 20th, 1756, administration of estate of William Freeman, of Woodbridge, N. J., granted to his widow Sarah.
 Jan. 21st, 1760, administration of estate of Sarah, widow, granted to Frazee Ayres.
 Jan. 31st, 1763, "Whereas William Freeman, late of Woodbridge, deceased, did not by deed in his lifetime, nor by his last will and testament dispose of the guardianship of his son, Andrew Freeman; and whereas the said Andrew Freeman, being above the age of fourteen years, and under the age of twenty-one, hath prayed that the said Joseph Smith may be appointed guardian of his person and estate, until he should attain the age of twenty-one years; now know ye, &c." (Trenton records.)

ANDREW FREEMAN,

born in Woodbridge, N. J.; married Mary Shotwell. He died in 1815. Issue:

- *30. I. WILLIAM, born July 27th, 1767; married in 1794, Mary Swayze, daughter of Joseph Swayze. He died Jan. 9th, 1821.
- *37. II. DANIEL, born Oct. 21st, 1769; married Jan. 4th, 1794, Phebe Swayze, daughter of Joseph. He died April 10th, 1835.
- *38. III. HANNAH, born Sept. 23rd, 1772; married a Mackay. She died in 1794.

A few years after his marriage Andrew Freeman left Woodbridge, and moved to Wyoming, Pa. On one occasion during his absence from home, the Indians attacked the settlement, and the inhabitants only saved their lives by escaping to the block-house built to repel such attacks. Mr. Freeman returning while the attack was in progress, was shot at by the Indians, but was enabled to reach the block-house unhurt.

On account of the hostility of the Indians he was compelled to leave Wyoming. Putting his wife and the little Hannah on one horse, and the eldest son William on another, he took the other boy on a horse with him, and, by the help of a friendly Indian, they escaped and returned to New Jersey. Before they left Wyoming they secreted the most valuable of their household goods in the hollow of a large tree that had been shown them by the Indian who assisted in their escape. Afterwards, Mr. Freeman returned to Pennsylvania and found the property intact. After his return to New Jersey he bought a farm near Hope, Warren Co., on which he spent the remaining days of his life. Late in life his wife Mary died, and he married Anna Sutton, widow of William Sutton, by whom he had no issue.

Andrew Freeman's will, Independence, Sussex Co., N. J., dated Feb. 13th, 1815, probated May 10th, 1815, mentions sons William and Daniel, and grandson John Freeman MacKay, and Andrew, son of William.

36.

WILLIAM FREEMAN.

born in Woodbridge, New Jersey, July 27th, 1767, married 1794, Mary Swayze, daughter of Joseph Swayze. He died Jan. 9, 1821. They had issue:

- *55. IX. ISAAC SWAYZE, born July 5th, 1816; married Mary M. Bradley.

The Reverend Daniel Freeman was ordained a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was sent into Canada in 1801, by the Baltimore Conference. Western Canada was but sparsely settled in those days, and Mr. Freeman's field extended from the Niagara River to Windsor. On one occasion, when his duties took him to Windsor, he crossed the river and preached in Detroit the first Protestant sermon ever preached in that City. He afterwards settled in Woodhouse, Norfolk Co., Canada, and built there a church, and ministered for many years to the people of that section, where his memory is still greatly revered, and his good deeds remembered.

Daniel Wesley Freeman was a successful and scientific farmer. His home place, "The Cedars," in Norfolk Co., Ontario, was one of the model farms of Canada. He took a great interest in public schools, and was for many years Superintendent of Public Schools, and Justice of the Peace in his native County. He was a pious, God-fearing man, and was respected and beloved by all who knew him.

Isabella Bailey, his wife, was a daughter of the Rev. John Bailey, of London, Canada, who was a prominent and able Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was the son of William Bailey, and grandson of Philip Bailey, a Huguenot refugee, who fled to Ireland in 1572, during the persecution of the Huguenots in France. John Bailey was born in Ireland, Co. Armagh, in 1782, and emigrated to America in 1803. His mother was a daughter of the Hon. William Dunbar, a Scotchman, son of the Earl of March.

John Bailey Freeman, eldest son of Daniel Wesley Freeman, was for many years a member of the Provincial Parliament of Ontario, Canada. The Toronto Globe, in an editorial on the death of Mr. Freeman, says: "As whip of the Liberal party, his position was one of great importance. He filled it with infinite tact and ability. In his death, North Norfolk loses an honored representative, the Legislature a useful member, and the country a man whom all may be proud to hold up as a typical Canadian. He was a good man and true,—one whose memory all Canadians will delight to honor."
